Listening Texts

MODEL 1

Listen to the text and answer the following questions:

Yesterday, I forgot to study for my science test. I was careless and played video games instead. Today, I failed the test and felt sick inside. My teacher gave me a second chance and told me to follow the instructions next time. Now I know that my bad decision had a consequence. Next time, I will use my study time better.

MODEL 2

Listen to the text and answer the following questions:

Dr. Hemdan didn't just write about geography. He also wrote about the Suez Canal, which is an important part of Egypt. He wanted people to understand how Egypt's land helps it connect to other countries. Dr. Hemdan was not only a geographer, but also a thinker who asked deep questions. Many leaders still use his books to learn about Egypt's role in the world.

MODEL 3

Listen to the text and answer the following questions:

Nada is an auditory learner. She enjoys listening to her teachers and often repeats new words out loud. Nada likes to study with music and talk about school topics with her friends. Sometimes, she records her lessons and listens to them again. She learns best when she hears stories or examples during class. Nada finds it easy to remember when she hears things clearly.

MODEL 4

Listen to the text and answer the following questions:

In the morning, I checked the weather on my tablet. At school, we used physical tools and a smart board during our science lesson. After lunch, I searched for pictures and shared them on a class blog. At night, I turned on night mode and read an e-book.

MODEL 5

Listen to the text and answer the following questions:

Aya learned at school that we must show respect to other people's cultures and traditions. Her teacher said we all live on the same planet, so we should live in peace. Aya saw a new student from a different country and helped her find her class. That small action made the girl smile. Aya is proud to be a global citizen who cares for others.

MODEL 6

Listen to the text and answer the following questions:

Leila always dreamed of being a writer. She was a good reader and loved to tell stories. After high school, she contacted a famous author and asked for advice. The writer told her to follow a rule—read every day and write often. Leila planned for the future and wrote her first book. She hopes it will help children learn and dream big.

MODEL 7

Listen to the text and answer the following questions:

Today, I helped my cousin with her homework. We searched for facts online using my laptop. Then, we used an app to draw a planet. She sent our work to the teacher through the class website. Afterward, we played a short online game before dinner.

MODEL 8

Listen to the text and answer the following questions:

Our class worked hard for the school invention fair. We invented a water-saving machine. Everyone had a role. Sandy designed the poster. Amir tested the machine. On the day of the event, we clapped for all the teams. The judges were impressed by our idea. We were so happy when we won the first prize. It felt amazing because we worked as one strong team.

MODEL 9

Listen to the text and answer the following questions:

Youssef was very excited about his birthday. He wanted to have a small party after school with only his closest friends. He chose eight classmates who were responsible and always finished their homework. They had also been kind to others. Youssef prepared games, snacks, and a small gift bag for each guest. He wanted the party to be fun but not too crowded.

MODEL 10

Listen to the text and answer the following questions:

I once ate too much sugar before school. I felt sick in class and couldn't focus. That was a bad decision. I asked my coach later why I felt that way, and he explained that sugar can have a bad effect on my body. He told me to eat healthy food before school. Now, I don't skip breakfast and always make smart food choices.
